Dr. M. C. White is ill and confined to his house. He is suffering from a severe cold.

Admiral Foote post vets at Saturday night's meeting heard reports from the delegates who attended the encampment at Louisville, and several short speeches were made by officers of the post.

As James Coyle of 117 Crown street was coasting down Farnam drive, East Rock, Saturday, his front wheel suddenly turned and slipped, and he was thrown heavily, breaking his left arm. He was taken to the hospital. Coyle lost his hold of the pedals and, holding his mangled arm by the handle bars, it shot down the first and second sharp pitches with increasing velocity. At the new level he desperately tried to right things, but failed. For the third time he made a frantic effort to get his feet on the flying pedals, but the left pedal struck him above the ankle with such violence that he lost all power of the left leg, his head reeled and the wild machine became wholly unmanageable, and he was thrown against the stone wall at the side of the driveway with great force. George A. Matthews, driving down Farnam drive a few minutes later, found the young man sitting helplessly beside the stone wall and his harmless looking bicycle lying a few feet away. Mr. Matthews helped the injured man into his carriage and drove him to police headquarters. He was then taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had suffered a fractured arm and a nervous shock.

The Sunday school scholars of the Trinity M. E. church enjoyed a trolley ride over the various branches of the New Haven road Saturday afternoon. There were three carloads of the children and the cars were trimmed with bunting.

Joseph Boenig, formerly saloon keeper at the corner of State and Wall streets, is in jail, his bondsman, Lyman A. Grannis, having surrendered him.

Mr. Walter I. Lowe, for the past three years principal of the night high school, has been promoted to full charge of the department of history at the Sheffield Scientific school, and thus was unable to serve at the night school again.

The finance committee of the board of education met Saturday for reorganization, and William E. Morgan was re-elected chairman. The other members are Messrs. Hooker and Stoddard. The finances of the district were discussed and also the matter of a proposed issue of bonds. The district was given power to issue district bonds to the amount of $500,000, and of this amount $225,000 has been issued. It is expected an additional issue will be made within the next two or three months in order to carry out the improvements which are projected.

Edward F. Mullen has returned from a visit to friends in Manchester, N. H., and Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Mullen and her sister, Miss Bannahan, who made the trip with him, received many pleasant letters reflecting upon her character. One of these letters, Mrs. Cochran says, she traced to Mrs. Lindley, acting as her own detective. Mrs. Cochran brought a criminal suit last spring against Mrs. Lindley, but owing to its being brought in Milford instead of Seymour, where the alleged offence took place, the suit was dismissed. Mrs. Cochran has also brought suit against R. T. Merwin, the real estate dealer of this city, for the same amount.

Congressman N. D. Sperry was on Saturday surprised by a visit from Smith Birdsey Dayton of Georgia. Mr. Dayton's father was Rev. Smith Dayton, known to all old New Haveners as the "Schublmaster." He taught the only school in New Haven in his time and was active in all enterprises for benefitting and beautifying the city. He was a member of the group of men who purchased a young sapling from Theron Benham, which was then planted at the corner of the green near the old pump. They gave Benham a gallon of whiskey and poured water about the roots of the sapling; it flourished and grew tall and strong and is to-day one of the largest, stately and best known elms in New Haven. Rev. Smith Dayton's father was Captain Ebeneser Dayton, who was in command of a gallant ship at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war. He was engaged in the West India trade.

Three Limited Trains to Atlanta, Ga., via Southern Railway.

To accommodate the heavy travel to Atlanta, Ga., on account of the Cotton States and International exposition, commencing Sunday, October 6, in addition to the two limited trains now in operation between New York and Atlanta via the Pennsylvania railroad and the Southern Railway "Piedmont Air Line," a third train will be put on which will be known as the "Exposition Flyer," leaving New York daily at 11 o'clock a.m., reaching Atlanta the following morning at 10 o'clock. This train will be composed of Pullman drawing room, sleeping and vestibule coaches. The equipment of the new train will be most excellent in every respect; the hour of departure and arrival at Atlanta are most convenient. This will, no doubt, as soon as known to the traveling public, be as popular as the famous Washington and Southwestern vestibule limited operated by this system between New York and Atlanta, which will continue to leave New York as heretofore, daily at 4:30 p. m.

The first date of departure from Boston is October 22, and the second November 19. A descriptive pamphlet will be mailed to any address by Messrs.
